

2017 class completes LWBJ summer internship

WEST DES MOINES, July 31, 2017 – The firm’s 2017 Summer Internship Program concluded on July 28. Four students were invited to participate – Connor Ostrander and Zach DeLeon from Drake University, Kevin Boeckholt from Iowa State University, and Zach Lawrence from the University of Northern Iowa.

During the eight-week program, the interns gained paid experience in each of the firm’s disciplines, including audit, tax, financial consulting and M&A. They worked directly with LWBJ engagement teams, learning essential skills and insights from leading accounting and business executives.

“Our firm has long been committed to helping develop the future leaders of our profession,” said LWBJ Managing Partner Paul Juffer, “and we were very pleased to welcome this year’s intern class. We were all enriched by the experience, both interns and staff.”

Planning for the LWBJ 2018 Summer Intern Program is underway. Application information will be available at www.lwbj.com after the first of the year.
